

CURRICULUM VITAE

Peter Sorton

By election and/or examination:

- Fellow of the Institute of the Motor Industry.
- Member of the Institute of Road Traffic Accident Investigators.
- Member of the Society of Automotive Engineers.
- Associate of the Institute of Road Transport Engineers.

Forty two years practical and theoretical experience in the analysis of road traffic accidents, including the attendance at the scene of a very large number of accidents, whilst physical evidence and vehicles in situ.

Trained with the Metropolitan Police and their Forensic Science Laboratory in the reconstruction and analysis of road traffic accidents.

Trained with the Road Transport Industry Training Board in specialist braking systems. Dunlop in tyre examinations.

Lucas Kienzle and the Metropolitan Police in tachograph analysis.

Certificates in:

- Advanced Driving.
- Advanced Motorcycling.
- Mechanical Examinations.
- Class 1 Heavy Goods Vehicles Licence Holder.

Former Instructor and Examiner for the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents.
Former Instructor and Examiner for the Institute of Advanced Motorists.

Lectured extensively in Accident Reconstruction to the following:

RoSPA, The Institute of the Motor Industry, The Forensic Science Society, The Institute of Road Transport Engineers, Engineers of the Automobile Association, The Law Society of England, The Law Society of Scotland, The Institute of Advanced Motorists, The Institute of Automotive Assessors. Personal Injury Litigation diploma courses.

Visiting Lecturer - Manchester University.

Has given presentations to national and international meetings and seminars, particularly in the field of computer based reconstruction and animated reconstruction.

Has been involved in a number of practical and theoretical research projects and maintains a close relationship with the Metropolitan Police Forensic Science Laboratory and the Transport and Road Research Laboratory.

Entered private practice in December 1983 as a consultant in Criminal and Civil cases.

Has presented expert evidence in all levels of Criminal, Civil and Coroners' Courts throughout the United Kingdom, and in Europe, over twenty-five years.