

James Stoll

Call: 1994

James Stoll is a very experienced personal injury barrister.

He is most frequently instructed in relation to claims arising out of road traffic accidents and accidents at work but also public liability and occupiers' liability claims.

James is often instructed on behalf of Defendant insurance companies in cases involving allegations of fundamental dishonesty and causation disputes.

Expertise

Personal Injury

James has specialised in personal injury work since 1998. He routinely represents clients at trials, applications and costs and case management conferences.

James also advises in writing and in conference; drafts statements of case, schedules (and counter) schedules of loss, part 18 and part 35 questions.

James' practice includes claims of utmost severity and those involving fatal accidents. James is also instructed to appear at Inquests.

James is regularly instructed on behalf of Defendant insurers in claims involving assertions of Fundamental Dishonesty eg. staged accidents, induced accidents, 'phantom' passenger and low velocity impact claims. He is frequently asked to conduct early conferences in order to prepare Defences and to advise generally as to prospects of success.

James is also instructed on claims involving credit hire.
